Session Focus – Teaching Live: Promoting Interaction in the Virtual Classroom

As teachers, we are used to promoting engagement in the classroom. It can be daunting to make the move to teaching online particularly as everyday tools like paired talk and group work are not currently available to us. This session is designed to support you in designing engaging and interactive online 'live' lessons using a range of techniques to promote children's talk, stimulate thinking and model effectively in a virtual learning environment.

Date : Wednesday 20th January
Time : 3:30pm - 4:45pm
Venue : Online via Zoom
Cost : Free of charge

Session Focus – Teaching PE remotely: Practical Guidance to Deliver Safe and Effective Online Lessons

Delivered by The National College - The webinar identifies ways in which remote PE lessons can be delivered safely and effectively to children in their home settings so that they can keep physically active and retain a sense of normality, to the benefit of their physical and mental health. This webinar will provide secondary school leaders, headteachers and PE leads with practical advice and guidance on delivering safe and effective remote PE lessons as part of DfE expectations towards developing a full remote education curriculum.

Date : Thursday 21st January
Time : 12:00pm - 1:00pm
Venue : Online via Zoom
Cost : Free of charge for PE Hub schools

We are covering the cost of this course for any PE Hub Schools, but other schools can book on direct with the National College – its £50 + vat Book Now

Session Focus – Delivering distance learning: a fun and collaborative way to plan for engagement

As a parent and teacher we may often wonder how we can make lessons more engaging, especially when that lesson might not be delivered live. Throughout this session you will be shown some online tools that will help to make distance learning more engaging, fun and interactive. During the session you will not only be shown the benefits of some simple, yet fantastic, freeware (with ideas of how to apply it for distance & online learning); you will also have the opportunity to utilise it to develop a 'lesson' that you can share with your class. Bring with you some fresh ideas, a laptop and if possible a separate device too (although this is not necessary – it will mean you can create your 'lesson' on one device without needing to switch from screen to screen) to get the best out of this session.

Date : Monday 25th January
Time : 3:30pm - 4:45pm
Venue : Online via Zoom
Cost : Free of charge
